The First Home of Drexel Law

Located in the heart of the University's main campus in University City, the College of Law includes:

- A 2-story atrium and balcony area for informal meetings, receptions, and group study
- Three large classrooms (seating 70), one of which will serve as a moot courtroom
- One medium classroom (seating 55)
- Three smaller classrooms (seating 25-30)
- 3 seminar rooms
- 24 offices for full-time faculty members, plus space for adjunct professors
- Office space for student organizations and journals
- A two-floor library
- Quiet study areas within the library
- Other areas where students can meet and work
- Fourth floor Dean's suite and main Administrative offices

The entire area shares Drexel's campus-wide wireless access to the internet. More...

More about Drexel Law

The law building is located at 3320 Market Street, between 33rd and 34th Streets. It is across the street from the Daskalaskis Athletic Center, and next door to the University's main library (Hagerty). It is also half a block from SEPTA's Market-Frankfort elevated/subway line (serving Center City and the Northeast), as well as the subway-surface lines (serving the City's central areas and western suburbs), making the law school convenient to housing and to the courts and co-op placements in the Philadelphia legal community.
